Organization for Development, Rehabilitation, and Health (ODRH)

Towards a Healthy and Poverty-free Society of Afghans

ABOUT ODRH

The Organization for Development, Rehabilitation, and Health (ODRH) is a non-governmental and non-political entity established in 2023. It is officially registered with the Ministry of Economy of Afghanistan under registration number 5773. ODRH is dedicated to facilitating positive change across multiple sectors, including social behavior, health, education, agriculture, interpersonal communication and counseling, social campaigns, public health, humanitarian services, research, and community development.

At ODRH, we are steadfast in our commitment to societal transformation. By providing inclusive services and fostering collaboration, we endeavor to identify and address the most significant challenges faced by communities. Our vision is to establish ourselves as the premier organization delivering innovative, effective, and sustainable solutions that promote community development and well-being.

Headquartered in Kabul, ODRH administers programming hubs throughout the northwestern and eastern provinces of Afghanistan. We prioritize the empowerment of vulnerable and marginalized communities impacted by war, natural disasters, poverty, and social injustice. Through our initiatives, we aspire to cultivate a resilient, equitable, and thriving society for all stakeholders.

ODRH is an active member of the UNDP network, registered in UN Partial and UNGM, a member of the International Domestic Workers Alliance USA, member of Protection, Child, Wash, Shelter, Nutrition Health Cluster, and EQuilo Climate Change Impact 2X.

Message from the Director

Edrees Taib

At ODRH, our mission is simple: to build stronger organizations by empowering people. We believe that a thriving workplace starts with effective leadership, engaged employees, and a culture of continuous growth. Through innovation and strategic solutions, we help organizations navigate change, develop talent, and create environments where people and businesses succeed together. Our commitment is to shape the future of work with integrity, vision, and a people-first approach. Thank you for being part of this journey. Together, we can drive lasting success.

Edrees Taib, ODRH Director

Organization for Development, Rehabilitation, and Health (ODRH)

COMMITMENT TO SIX HUMANITARIAN PRINCIPLES BY ODRH

ODRH is fully committed to upholding the six humanitarian principles established by OCHA Afghanistan, which ensure the highest standards of humanitarian assistance. These principles guide ODRH's operations and decision-making processes, promoting neutrality, impartiality, and effectiveness in serving communities in need.

Humanity – ODRH prioritizes the well-being and dignity of affected populations by providing essential services and responding to humanitarian crises with compassion and respect.

Neutrality – The organization remains neutral in conflicts, refraining from taking sides to ensure that aid reaches those in need without discrimination.

Impartiality – Assistance is provided solely based on need, without bias related to nationality, ethnicity, gender, religion, or political affiliation.

Independence – ODRH maintains full autonomy in its decision-making and program implementation, ensuring that humanitarian aid is not influenced by external political or economic pressures.

Organization for Development, Rehabilitation, and Health (ODRH)

Operational Effectiveness – The organization commits to delivering timely, efficient, and high-quality humanitarian aid using best practices and evidence-based approaches.

Accountability – ODRH upholds transparency, monitoring, and reporting mechanisms to ensure responsible use of resources and responsiveness to beneficiaries' needs.

By adhering to these principles, ODRH ensures that its humanitarian efforts are ethical, effective, and in accordance with global humanitarian standards.

VOCATIONAL TRAINING AND CAPACITY BUILDING FOR WOMEN

ODRH has positively impacted the lives of over 200 women, girls, and youth, including individuals with disabilities and women who serve as the sole providers for their families. Through free vocational training in tailoring, sewing, Sormaduzi, Gulduzi, and knitting, as well as skill-sharing workshops, we have equipped them with essential skills to build sustainable livelihoods and achieve economic independence.

The need for vocational training is growing rapidly, particularly in light of increasing restrictions on women's employment and education. To sustain and expand this vital initiative, we urgently seek the support of donors and partners. With collective effort, we can provide hope, opportunity, and dignity to women and youth in need, empowering them to build a better future.

PROVIDING LIFE-SAVING HUMANITARIAN ASSISTANCE IN HERAT PROVINCE

ODRH has extended critical humanitarian aid to 1,000 vulnerable families in Herat province, supporting a total of 6,880 individuals, including 2,900 men, 3,980 women, and the households of 18 persons with disabilities. Through the generous financial and technical support of our donors and partners, we provided essential supplies such as warm food, drinking water, clothing, and blankets to those in urgent need.

This initiative was fully aligned with the FSAC cluster response packages, reinforcing ODRH's unwavering commitment to humanitarian assistance. In times of crisis, emergencies, and complex challenges, we stand in solidarity with the most vulnerable, ensuring they receive the care and support they desperately need. Our efforts reflect a dedication to alleviating suffering and fostering resilience within affected communities.

ODRH'S PARTNERSHIP WITH UN WOMEN FOR GENDER EQUALITY AND EMPOWERMENT

ODRH is proud to be supported and funded by UN Women for an eight-month period, commencing on January 1, 2025, and concluding on August 31, 2025. This grant is dedicated to advancing gender equality and the empowerment of women by strengthening organizational capacity and fostering sustainable development.

Through this funding, ODRH aims to introduce and enhance key organizational systems, tools, and processes that will improve operational efficiency. Additionally, the grant will support comprehensive training programs to equip our workforce with essential technical and managerial skills, ensuring they are well-prepared to drive meaningful change.

This partnership underscores our shared commitment to creating inclusive, equitable opportunities for women and building a stronger foundation for long-term social and economic empowerment.
